News from our Churches:

Noble City Church is excited for 2021. Pastor Murray states: “We are investing in a new cohort of leaders and are excited to see them shepherd, preach and reach out in their neighborhoods this year. Please pray for the Nenstiel and Brown families as they plant a new church in Lancaster City.

As the vaccine rolls out, we are hopeful to offer our youth summer camp.

Our partnership with Unfolding Word, a bible translation ministry, is taking off. We sent Matt and Sukey Lynskey to serve with them and are hoping God will open doors internationally to invest in leadership training and church planting that works alongside bible translation.

We are also celebrating our third graduate of our church-based leadership development, Seth Nenstiel who completed his Master of Ministry.”

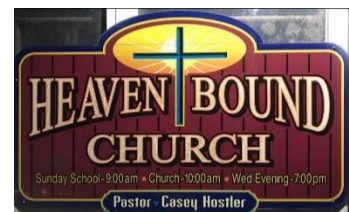

Stewartstown Baptist Church baptized two young men in early December:

Tanner and Ethan Kirkpatrick.

A Word from Brad ~

Flexibility is the Word

If 2020 taught us anything, it's that plans change, God is sovereign and in control, and we need to be flexible.

Having hosted more than 40 volunteer groups in Russia we would always need to explain that the most important concept for the volunteers to understand was flexibility. We knew that no matter how well we planned, events would often get cancelled for some reason or another and we would have to come up with a new plan. So, whether they wanted to or not, flexibility was a concept that volunteers had grasped by necessity at the end of their week-long trip from the U.S. to Russia.

Throughout the Bible we see followers of God as constantly being flexible. In fact, I think almost every person in the Bible was flexible to God's leading. Abraham had to be flexible and move to wherever God led him to. Noah had to be flexible and listen to God when He said to build a huge boat on dry land. Matthew had to be flexible the day he was sitting in his tax collector's booth and Jesus said, "Follow me."

Another great example is Philip. He was seeing a revival in Samaria and yet God took Philip to the desert, seemingly away from the people. When God said to go to the chariot, Philip didn't complain, but obeyed God. He was flexible and adapted to God's leading and doing God's will. Philip not only walked to the chariot but ran. Philip didn't ask why or complain about God taking him from the middle of a revival to one lone servant in the desert. Philip embraced the new assignment with obedience and enthusiasm. Enthusiasm originally described someone who showed religious fervor or who was "In God".

So, the next time your plans change, be flexible, because it just might be God moving you to a new task. We can aim for enthusiastic flexibility.

Penn State~New Life: Kayla Smith

“Our New Life Penn State students recently created and completed a “25 Days of Blessing” calendar for the month of December. Each day featured a different way to bless someone through service, encouraging words, and giving. We loved hearing the testimonies from our students as they blessed those around them. Some were even able to have their non-believing friends join them in serving as well! We are looking forward to starting our virtual semester mid-January, and then in-person meetings mid-February. Would you join us in praying that New Life students would return to campus eager to continue intentionally blessing their college peers and the campus?”
